Entered for the People's Regatta on the Schuylkill River.

To Contest Against Fast Oarsmen on July 1-Good Chance of Victory for Time, 1:08, the Washington Men-Handicapped by a Lack of Early Practice.

The husky red-shirted oarsmen who make up the junior crew of the Potomac Boat Club will leave for Philadelphia on Wednesday to participate in the People's Regatta on the Schovikill at Philadelphia on July 4, and are more than likely to figure prominently in the result of that big event. There will start in the race in which the Potomacs are entered the

The People's Regarts is one of the big | events of the acquatic season in the United States. The expenses are defrayed by the appropriation made by the city council of Philadelphia, and the races are watched by tens of thousands of people. The regatta stands unique, and to capture the junior eight-oared race from the large and fast field invariably entered is an honor of the first water.

Victory for the Potomacs will mean much. Should the nose of the Washington boat cross the line first, the Potomucs will be entered at the National Regatta at Philadelphia, on July 18 and 19.

Just what the prospects of victory are, it is difficult to say. Nothing definite is known regarding the other crews, which will start All have first class reputations, but little is known as to their form this year. All have had much more active work this season than have the Potomacs. The focal oarsmen's next shell was delayed for several weeks in its arrival in the city, and hard practice thus received a set-back. It had been the intention to enter the junior eight at Harlem on Decoration Day, but the idea was abandoned. The only face the Potomacs have rowed this season was the one-mile dash with the Georgetown craw account weeks are the Georgetown crew several weeks ago varsity was fought to a standstill the plucky Indians in the Potomac by the pincky Indians in the Potomac shell, and the contest was declared a dead

The Potomacs labor under a disadvantage in that they have no professional coach. All the training is done under the coach. All the training is done under the eye of experienced oarsmen in the club, but there is a lack of the constant attention to little details which can be given only by the professional oarsman who is able to devote his entire time to the crew. Under the circumstances, the developments of the Potomaes have been remarkable.

Many of them are, however, oarsmen of considerable experience, and more than that, they have an abundance of nerve. The beef is largely in the waist of the boat, where it will do most good at a pach. In May, the Potomacs have a clever stroke, and in Young, the conswain, a man who knows well the capabilities of the men in front of him. Practice spins of varying length are taken up and down the river daily. There is great interest taken this year in the crew by the members of the Potomac Boat Club. Quite a number will go to Philadelphia to witness the races on the Fourth.

The names of the members of the crew and figures regarding them are given below. The average age is twenty-three years. The average height is 5 feet % inches, and the average weight 15% peunds.

GOOD RACES. THIN CROWDS.

The Kings County Wheelmen's Meet Attracts a Poor Attendance.

NEW YORK, June 29.-An indication that what the public wants in the way of cycle racing is middle distance paced riding was furnished at Manhatttan Beach today. The meet was the twentieth annual affair of the King's County Wheelmen. A good card of short races, both professional and amateur, was offered, but there were not more than 2,000 persons present. The races were well contested, but they passed off quickly, owing to the lack of a big crowd and a small amount of enthusiasm.

The Englishmen, Gascoyne and Jenkins, who arrived here with the reputation of being the greatest unpaced riders in the world, made their first appearance as a team in this country, with Tem Cooper and Frank Kramer as opponents, and were taken into camp handly by the Americans.

NEWS FROM ALEXANDRIA.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 29.-But little hopes are entertained for the recovery of Andrew Morris, alias "Happy Jack," who was stabbed last night. His condition, which remains unchanged since he underwent the operation at the infirmary last night, is precarious.

John Arrington, who is charged with the ffence, was arraigned in the police court this morning before Mayor Simpson. Without going into the case, the mayor remanded the prisoner to await Morris' injuries. So far the police have been unable to obtain any clue to the affray, but are making strenuous efforts to obtain

As Arrington was being taken back to the prisoners' room, a sensation was created in the court by Walter Posey, a spectator, asking the mayor if the prisoner would have any witnesses at his trial. Mayor Simpson stated that he would, but reprimanded Posey for interrupting the court, and warned him not to repeat it. At this juncture of the proceedings Posey gave some back-talk, whereupon the mayor ordered that he be arrested. Posey was placed in the prisoners' room, adjoining the courtroom. A few minutes afterward, the court was startled by a shower of thundering kicks, which rained against the door. Posey became so obstreperous that he had to be locked in a cell. He will be given a hearing on Monday morning. The recently elected city council will be inducted into office on Monday at noon by Mayor George L. Simpson. Mayor Simpson will also take the oath of office for the third teem. It is expected that a large crowd will witness the ceremony, as Mayor Simpson will deliver his inaugural address. WHAT TRADEMAR . S COST.

Registry Cheap in This Country and Expensive in Zululand.

The business of registering trademarks has become a most important industry. There was a time, a comparatively few years ago, when the question of protecting trademarks did not enter into the commercial value of the articles involved as it does now. This is due to the enormous increase in the advertising of health foods, cereals, patent medicines, and athletic novelties. The tariff of
